OPENING SESSION

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

KENT KIEHL, PHD

The Science of Psychopaths:
Assessment,
Recidivism,
Neuroscience and Treatment

As a prominent clinical neuroscience researcher, DR. KENT KIEHL specializes in criminal psychopathy, sex offenders, substance abuse, and psychotic disorders. He uses a one-of-a-kind Mind Mobile MRI System to collect brain imaging data from offenders and has collected a library of over 2500 brain images, representing the world's largest forensic neuroscience repository. At the FMHAC conference, Dr. Kiehl will discuss his research and its legal implications, including the modern assessment of psychopathy, the role the condition plays in recidivism, the latest neuroscience, aspects for treatment and management of the condition, and how the neuroscience data is impacting the legal arena.

RICHARD WALTER

THE VIDOCQ SOCIETY

The Mystery Clue in Searching for Jack-the Ripper

RICHARD WALTER co-founded the Vidocq Society, named after Eugène François Vidocq, the nineteenth century French criminal-turned-detective who helped police solve "cold case" homicides. He used his knowledge of the criminal mind to look at murder from the psychological perspective of the perpetrator. Vidocq Society Members meet monthly to review presentations of cold cases by law enforcement officials from around the world. The Society solved its first case in 1991, clearing an innocent man of involvement in the murder of Huey Cox in Little Rock, Arkansas.

WRAP-UP SESSION

JAMES CANTOR, PHD

Pedophilia and Brain Research: From the Basics to the State-of-the- Art

DR. JAMES CANTOR is a clinical and research psychologist who consults internationally on the scientific study of paraphilias and sexual offenses. For over ten years, he has used MRI and other techniques to examine the role of the brain in pedophilia and hebephilia. Dr. Cantor and his team have found that men with pedophilia or hebephilia differ from typical men in multiple ways such as differences in brain scans, significantly lower mean IQs, deficit in physical height, and a greater probability of being non-right-handed and of having suffered head injuries during childhood. At the FMHAC conference, he will discuss these findings as well as how the brain processes sexual stimuli and how MRI is used to study pedophilia, with the goal of helping attendees critically evaluate claims made about the potential implications of this research.
