OPENING SESSION

ALLAN SCHORE, PHD

Attachment, Regulation
Theory, Relational
Trauma, and the Origin of a Predisposition to Violence

Renowned researcher, Dr. Allan Schore's work in Trauma Psychology has included studies on early right-brain affect regulation and relational trauma. His presentation will include interpersonal neurobiological models of attachment, the negative impact of relational trauma on the developmental trajectory of the right brain, and the origins of attachment trauma-related psychopathologies of self-regulation, including posttraumatic stress disorder and a predisposition to violence.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHT

MICHAEL CALDWELL, PSYD

Treatment of Violent Delinquents with Psychopathic Features

In every state, a small number of particularly violent and intractable juvenile delinquents absorb a disproportionate amount of rehabilitation resources and account for an excessive number of violent crimes. Many of these juveniles show early indications of psychopathic features, and many continue to commit violent crimes into adulthood. This workshop will describe the Mendota Juvenile Treatment Center, an innovative approach to these youth that has proven successful at reducing violent recidivism, even among youth with significant psychopathic features.

Dr. Michael Caldwell is Co-founder of the Mendota Juvenile Treatment Center and works there as a Senior Staff Psychologist.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

- CEUs are approved for attendees licensed with the BBS, BRN, MCEP, and CME.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHT

SARAH DESMARAIS, PHD

Integration of Structured Risk Assessment into Clinical Practice

Though mental health professionals often receive considerable training in the use of structured approaches to assess violence risk, they rarely receive training in how to integrate the assessment results into clinical practice. Dr. Sarah Desmarais, co-author of the Short-Term Assessment of Risk and Treatability (START) risk assessment tool, will fill this gap with this presentation about using assessment tools to assist with treatment planning, decisions regarding supervision, and matching assessment results to appropriate interventions.

Dr. Desmarais trains and consults with mental health and criminal justice professionals worldwide on the implementation of START and other risk assessment approaches.

CONFERENCE TRACKS

Juvenile Offenders
Sex Offender
Clinical/Assessment
Legal Psychiatric

Sessions may fall into multiple tracks. Participants can attend presentations across all five tracks.
